A meeting was called of those interested in fire fighting last week and Geo. Liesemer was appointed Fire Chief and J. V. Berscht assistant Fire Chief.

N. Weicker will ship hogs on Tuesday, March 23rd. Hogs must be delivered on Monday, March 22nd.

A box social will be held at Springside schoolhouse on Friday, March 19th. A good programme of songs, recitations, and dialogues will be rendered. Everybody come.

Mrs. Jim Reed entertained a number of her friends on Friday afternoon last, in honor of Mrs. John Reed. Games were played for a short time, after which a dainty lunch was served.

Miss Zuma A. Corbitt entertained about twenty-five of her young friends last Saturday afternoon, it being her seventh birthday. Games were played, after which a lunch was served.

M. Newhall disposed of his land recently purchased from H. H. Reimer to J. R. W. H. for $34,000. The land is a good outfit to farm the land. Gaddes & Findlay put the deal through.

All those intending to join the fire brigade are requested to attend a meeting in the Alexandra Hotel sample rooms on Tuesday evening, March 23rd, at eight o'clock. This meeting is called for organization purposes. — GEO. LIESEMER, Fire Chief.

The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Feb. 24th, see article "Training horses to act as policeman," tells us that the ideal horse should stand SIXTEEN FEET high and weigh a thousand pounds. Glad we haven't any such unproportionate beasts—but there's no accounting for tastes.

COAL! COAL! $6 per ton at Corbitt's.

It has been decided by the "Festival" committee at Edmonton to extend the date for receipt of entries for competitions to April 15th. It was also decided to offer a shield to be competed for by Choral Societies or Choruses in the Province of Alberta except choruses in the city of Edmonton. Particulars of music, etc., can be had from Thos. H. Griffiths, Edmonton.

A bad accident occurred to a son of Rev. R. Gratz, who lives about three miles south of Sunny-slope a few days ago. The young fellow was harnessing a horse when the animal by some means slipped and fell on him, crushing his face severely. Drs. Weart and Gaddes were immediately called out and found that the lad's jaw was fractured in six places and that he had lost the sight of one eye. Latest reports state that he is on the road to recovery.

The first gun in the political campaign was fired in Didsbury on Saturday night last by the Liberals in the Opera House. P. J. Nolan of Calgary was the speaker of the evening. C. L. Peterson was chairman of the meeting.

Individual millinery styles that "make the lady look the lady"—remember the hat completes the costume. You will appear stylish and graceful in a hat from our parlor, opening on April 2nd and 3rd. Light refreshments served. See posters.—Geo. Peters.

A lecture in the Presbyterian Church under the auspices of the Ladies Aid will be given by Rev. Clark of Knox Church, Calgary, on Friday evening, March 26th. The subject will be "Joan of Arc" (1174-1212). A hat very highly recommended.

The Allen Players filled a two night engagement at the Opera House this week, and considering the short time in which they were advertised, drew fairly good houses. On Monday night "Zira" was the bill put on with Miss Verna Felton in the leading role. The company fully sustained their reputation as one of the best stock companies in the west in both plays. The first which was a domestic drama in four acts was exceptionally well played and brought out exceptionally fine playing by all the members of the company. The play on Tuesday night was "All due to Diana" which caused a laugh from start to finish. This talented company will appear again in Didsbury in the near future and Didsbury theatre goers should watch for the announcement and patronize them on their return.

If you want a hat at half price, call at J. V. Berscht's. $2.50 sold at $1.25.

Wedding Bells

A happy event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Reinhardt, seven miles north west of Didsbury, on Tuesday March 9th, when their daughter Sarah was united in matrimony to Mr. Henry Berdick, who has a cosy home near by. Rev. D. Rieder performed the ceremony. The celebration took place at 6 o'clock p. m. in the presence of a number of invited neighbors and friends. Hours passed quickly and delightfully with song and various amusements. The number of costly presents proved the esteem and regard in which the young couple are held, and many congratulations were conferred on them.

No Dyspepsia or Indigestion

Every family here ought to keep some diapsin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of indigestion or stomach trouble at anytime day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour stomach five minutes afterwards. If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist for a box case of Pape's Diapsin and take one tri-angle after supper to-night. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heart burn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapsin is a certain cure for all stomach misery, because it will take hold of your food and digest it just the same as if the stomach was there.

Actual prompt relief for all your stomach misery is at your Pharmacist. WATERBURY'S boxes contain more than sufficient to cure a case of dyspepsia or indigestion.

GOD SAVE THE KING

Given under my hand at Didsbury this third day of March A.D. 1909,

H. B. ATKINS,
RETURNING OFFICER, ELECTORAL DISTRICT OF DIDSBURY

AFTER FIVE YEARS OF SUFFERING

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS EFFECT
ANOTHER GRAND CURE IN NOVA SCOTIA.

Mrs. Margaret Brady Tells How They Relieved Her of Rheumatism and Made Her Stronger in Every Way.
Green's Brook, Pictou Co., N. S. (Special).—That diseased kidneys are the cause of the ills from which so many women suffer and that they are cured completely and permanently by Dodd's Kidney Pills, is once more proved in the case of Mrs. Margaret Brady of this place.

"For five years," says Mrs. Brady, when interviewed regarding her sickness and cure, "I was ill with kidney and liver complaint, which caused Rheumatism, Sciatica and Heart Flutters. My nervous system was affected and my blood seemed to lack vitality."

"I tried medicines and was under the doctor's care, but received no benefit till I used Dodd's Kidney Pills and Diamond Dinner Pills. They relieved me of Rheumatism and made me stronger and better in every way. These remedies had no other cure."

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure diseased kidneys and all diseases that are caused by diseased kidneys or impure blood.

Ladies First.

At a Sunday school in the country a teacher was examining her class on the Bible, the lesson being a part of Genesis. She asked her class: "Why did the serpent tempt Eve instead of Adam?" For some time there was silence, but at length a little boy held up his hand and replied: "Please mum, 'cause it's ladies first."

Relief for the Depressed.—Physical and mental depression usually have their origin in a disordered state of the stomach and liver, as when these organs are deranged in their action the whole system is affected. Try Par-mec's Vegetable Pills. They revivify the digestive processes, act beneficially on the nerves and restore the spirits as no other pills will. They are cheap, simple and sure, and the efforts to "doctor" are saved.

"It takes one two to cure the middle."

"Yes, but only one gets it!"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Nova Scotia "Lumber King" says: "I consider MINARD'S LINIMENT the BEST liniment in use. I got my foot badly injured lately. I bathed it with MINARD'S LINIMENT and it was as well as ever next day."

Yours very truly,
T. G. McQUEEN.

Trascribe Magistrate.—Officer, why did you bring this prisoner up before me? Can't you see he's as dead as a door nail?

Police-constable—Oh was told y'd give him a beating, so I judge.

Repeat it:—"Shiloh's Cure will always cure my coughs and colds."

Mother (reprovingly)—Don't you know that you should never let a man kiss you?

Daughter.—But, mamma, it seems so forward for a girl to do the kissing.—Boston Transcript.

The captain of a certain yacht had evoked an anxiety among a nautical party to the craft that at once attracted the attention of a fair passenger on board.

"What's the trouble, captain?" asked she.

"The fact is, ma'am," was the response, "our rudder's broken."

"Oh, I shouldn't worry about that," said the lady. "Being under the water nearly all the time, as you will notice, that it's gone."—Harper's Weekly.

What It Meant to Bill.

Patrick Jones, New York's superintendent of school supplies, was talking at a dinner about corporal punishment.

"Corporal punishment in our schools is no more," he said, "and that is a good thing. Undoubtedly, though, many a boy showed wonderful pluck."

"I remember a boy named Bill, a brave fellow, was doing miserably one day in a geometry recitation. "Now, sir," said the schoolmaster savagely, "for the last time, what is the square of the hypotenuse of a right-angled triangle equivalent to?" "It's equivalent to a kick!" for me, sir. There's the club," said Bill.—Boston Herald.

An amusing anecdote relating to the King's recent stay at Brighton was related the other evening by Rev Cecil Maunsell.

The reverend gentleman, who vouches for the authenticity of the story, said that a few days ago a boy walked up to his Majesty as he was strolling along the esplanade at Hove, and said to him:

"Yes," replied the King, taking out his watch, it is a quarter to ten."

The boy then informed his Majesty that he had been waiting two hours to see the blooming King, adding:

"I am not going to wait any longer."

"Neither shall I," replied the King, as he resumed his walk. His Majesty immediately said Mr. Maunsell, and words related the incident with much gusto.

"I shall tell the unvarnished truth in this investigation!"

"Well," answered Senator Sorghum, "I don't know as varnish is important. But how about whitewash?"—Washington Star.

HAD GIVEN UP HOPE

But Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Restored Vigorous Health.

"My mother, an old-fashioned kind of woman, had been suffering from disease, but she never touch the disease itself; they never cure ordinary medicines. I was behind, inconstancy, constipation and slum, standing in the middle of the road."

"On the other hand," said Mrs. Pink Pills, "I do direct good to me, my blood and the nerves. They fill the veins with new rich blood; they tone and strengthen the nerves; they cure disease by noting it out of the body. They always do good—they cannot possibly do harm."

Mrs. George E. Wilson, Moncton, N.B., says:—"A few years ago after confinement I contracted a severe cold and although I took considerable medicine I got no better. In fact my condition was gradually getting worse. I was all run down, had no appetite and grew so weak that I could not do my housework. At last the doctor who was attending me told my husband that I was going into a decline, and I feared so myself, for a sister had died of consumption. When almost in despair a friend suggested my taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I got half a dozen boxes. Before I had taken them all I began to get better. Then I got another half dozen boxes, and before I had used them all I was able to do my housework again, and was in better health than I had enjoyed for years. I believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved me from going into consumption and I warmly recommend them to every weak person."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Rats' Cold Weather Retreat.

Many animals struggle together for warmth in bitter weather, as the squirrels and the rats. Those who go ratting in hedges and dells in the winter know they may try a dozen freshly used barrows without finding a rat, when suddenly from a single hole the rats will come pouring out in a stream of frenzied fear. Twenty or more rats will be together in one hole.

They are clever enough to block up a hole on the windward side to keep out the draft, so that when a rat hole is noted nearly stopped with soil, scrub leaves or grass here is almost certain indication that rats are within. Like the squirrels, they store food for winter, and the keeper may find it more difficult to secure his potatoes from frost than from the attack of the most numerous of his furred foes.—London Standard.

Century Sex.

"Tom-I'd give anything if I could only convince Miss Peachy that I love her."

Jack.—And why can't you convince her?

Tom.—Because she knows I do.—Pittsburg Post.

Grouping Approval.

"Do you enjoy classical music?"

"I don't exactly enjoy it," answered Mr. Cumrox, "but it helps to kill off a great deal of minute uninteresting conversation."—Washington Star.

TRY THIS FOR YOUR COUGH

Mix two ounces of Glycerine with a half ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine, compound pure and a half pint of straight Whisky. Shake well, and take in doses of a teaspoonful every four hours. This mixture possesses the healing, healthful properties of the Pine, and will break a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable. In having this formula put up, be sure that your drug-gist uses the genuine Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure, prepared and guaranteed only by the Leach Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont.

Nothing Lacking.

A Highland minister, who was rather a pompous gentleman, came to a shepherd's house to baptize a child.

"Are you prepared?" he asked the fond parent.

"Oh, my minister; I have got a grand ham for tea."

"I mean spiritually prepared," thanked the cleric.

"At course I am; oh, yes. I got two bottles of first-class whisky from the minister, and filled the imperturbable Celt.—Tit-Bits.

If you are a sufferer from colds get a bottle of Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup and test its qualities. It will be found that no praise bestowed on it is too high. It does all that is claimed for it, and does it thoroughly. Do not take any substitute for Bickel's Syrup, because it is the best, having stood the test of years. All the best dealers sell it.

Kaiser Obeeyed Scene Shifter.

A story is told in Berlin newspapers which places the Kaiser in a somewhat curious light. Recently he visited a theatre, and strolling behind the scenes, became liberal of advice to the manager, actors and even scene shifters, who listened in awed silence. Presently the emperor lighted a cigar, nothing as he talked. On both sides of him were flame drier draperies and on the floor heaps of paper.

For a moment the Kaiser's face glowed forward and pointed politely to a printed notice: "No smoking allowed in the theatre."

Then, smiling, he put out his cigar, remarking as he did so: "Thank you, friend. It would be disastrous if your Emperor taught you to disobey the law."—M.A.P.

"Two London cabbies were glaring at each other."

"Aw, what's the matter with you?" demanded one.

"Nunkin' the matter with me, you bloomin' idiot."

"You gave me a nasty look," persisted the first.

"Me? Why, you certainly 'ave a nasty look, but I didn't give it to you, so 'elp me!"—Everybody's Magazine.

Women and New Money.

The cashier, as usual, paid the loon boss in new money—crip, snow-melting bank notes that it was pleasant to handle.

"But why is it, George," he asked, "that you don't give me new money always?"

"I know you had every cent of it to your wife."

The loon boss chuckled.

"It's easy to get you a married man, Will," said he. "Otherwise you'd know woman's nature better and wouldn't need to be told the advantage of taking home new money to the wife. The explanation is, Will, that women are so fond of new money that they hate to part with it. It takes them some new money always."

He then, they deny themselves that, and the upshot is that at the end of each week they have a tidy little sum, all brand new, put by in a stocking or a teapot. It pays, Will, to give the wife new money. It pays something like 20 per cent."

Another Sufferer.

"Ah," said the shabby beggar as he shivered from the pelting sleet, "you don't mind weather like this."

"Who doesn't?" hastened the man in the fur lined overcoat. "Why, it is the hardest weather on automobiles I ever saw in my life."—Chicago News.

Costiveness and its Cure.—When the excretory organs refuse to perform their functions properly the intestines become clogged. This is known as costiveness and if neglected gives rise to dangerous complications. Par-mec's Vegetable Pills will effect a speedy cure. At the first intimation of this ailment the sufferer should procure a packet of the pills and put himself under a course of treatment. The good effects of the pills will be almost immediately evident.

"Gentlemen," said the toastmaster at the banquet, "we have listened to some excellent orators this evening and I am sure we have enjoyed their efforts very much. I have purposely kept one of our best speakers for the last, and after you have heard him I know you will be glad to go home."

Gentlemen, I have the honor to present Mr. Ketchum A. Cummin, who will now address you."—Chicago Tribune.

Chicago's Model Park.

What is expected to be Chicago's model park is now being built on the north side. To make room for it, the heart of one of the worst slum districts in the city has been torn down, six acres of buildings in all being razed. In place of the tumbledown structures there will be, in the course of a few months, a playground, a swimming pool, clubhouse, library, and a luncheon. There will be a natatorium, with a swimming pool 35 by 150 feet, which will accommodate 200 bathers an hour. Besides the indoor gymnasium, there will be outdoor enclosures of the same kind, one for women and girls and another for men and boys. A baseball diamond, which can be turned into a football field in Fall and a skating rink in Winter, will occupy part of the open ground, as will also a running track. Another feature will be a playground for children under ten years old.

"Advertisements on the scenery," exclaimed the star, "that's carrying commercialism really too far."

"It isn't commercialism," exclaimed the manager. "We want the scene to look like a real meadow, don't we?"—Tit-Bits.

Little Heroine

SLOWLY another walked to a closet in a corner of the little room. From it, in a pile of things she drew forth a small box. "It's trembling fingers she held it. "Alas! the money is all gone!" she sighed. "I was sure of it, but somehow I hoped against hope." For a moment she leaned wearily against the wall. Then, rousing herself, she said:

"Gertrude, we must eat. I shall save you here with the children while I go out into the fields to gather some corn. If the soldiers come during my absence, reply to them courteously."

"And if you should not return, mother?" Gertrude sobbed.

The mother threw her arms around the little girl and kissed her lovingly. "But I shall return," she said comfortingly. "And the good God will take care of you all."

She hastily opened the door and took her departure. When she had passed round the corner of the house, she knelt and offered up a prayer for the safety of her children. Then she walked noiselessly down the long avenue arched with trees, and out into the fields.

Within the house Gertrude sat, anxiously awaiting her mother. Three little children played about the floor of the farmhouse. Gertrude tried her tears, in the determination to be very brave, although the firing of the cannon and the mother was heard quite plainly. Still, she was already 14, and if anything escaped, but if they find me I will be shot as a spy!"

Gertrude thought quickly. There wasn't even a cranny big enough to hide any one. No, she couldn't—but, yes, she had an idea!

"Quick!" she commanded. "Let me tie this cap on your head. Now climb quickly into mother's big bed. Lie there as still as you can. I shall tell the soldiers that you are my little sister, who is ill."

In spite of the danger, Gertrude could not help smiling at the strange appearance of the boy.

No sooner was the lad safe ahead than there was a sharp rat-a-tap at the door.

As she opened it a squad of soldiers burst into the room.

"Have you seen a man running this way?" demanded one burly fellow.

"No, sir," answered Gertrude, hoping that the falsehood would be forgiven.

"I'm all alone with these little children and my sick sister."

After a hurried examination of the house the soldiers departed. A short time later the lad stole from the house, after expressing his gratitude to the little girl.

Gertrude related the story to her mother, and they thanked Providence for the narrow escape. But in the succeeding days which followed, when they were fortunate even to secure a little food, they forgot all about the incident.

Months passed and the war was over. One day, as Gertrude sat by the window sewing and the mother was looking herself in the kitchen, one of the smaller children entered with an im-

HUMPTY DUMPTY

"HOW very careless my cousin must have been to fall from such a very safe wall," murmured Humpty Dumpty, as he dangled his legs over the stone ledge.

He whistled a merry tune, swinging his body from side to side in time to the melody.

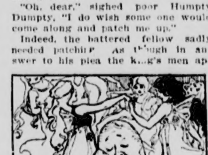

"Why, I could sit here all day without the slightest danger," thought he.

But before he had time to say it should be a very little too far to the left, lost his balance and landed on the flagstones below with a crash and a smash.

"Oh, dear," sighed poor Humpty Dumpty. "I do wish some one would come along and patch me up."

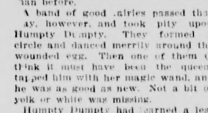

Indeed, the battered fellow sadly needed patching. As though in answer to his plea the king's men appeared. But they could do nothing for him, and left him in worse state than before.

A band of good allies passed that day, however, and took pity upon Humpty Dumpty. They formed a circle and danced merrily around the wounded egg. Then one of them I think it must have been the queen tapped him with her magic wand, and he was as good as new. Not a bit of yolk or white was missing.

Humpty Dumpty had learned a lesson.

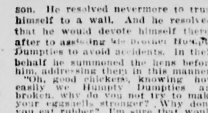

son. He resolved nevermore to trust himself to a wall. And he resolved that he would devote himself thereafter to a life of quietude. Humpty Dumpty to avoid accidents, in their behalf he summoned the king before him, and said: "I am, I am, I am broken, why do you not try to make me whole again?"

"You eat rubber?"

"I am sure that would make me whole again, but I am not able to do so."

In his eagerness to enlist the children in his cause, Humpty Dumpty forgot his caution and climbed on a wall behind him. Soon he was as good as dead. He became so violent that, before he could save himself, he toppled off his perch.

One kiss, little one, against the cheek of the father and told her of Humpty Dumpty's plight. But the queen only shook her head as she answered:

"No, we shall not help him again. He was too vain as to imagine that he could help his brothers, when he couldn't even take care of himself. I think he deserved his fate."

So, when the sun came out, and the clouds warmed upon him, poor Humpty Dumpty lay there.

Painting Wild Animals From Life

THE Bronx Park lion house, in the Central Park, New York, is fitted out with a unique studio, which will enable artists to make a study of wild animals from actual life. The new studio is at one end of the building, shut off from the main lion house. There are two parts to the studio: the auditorium and the cage. The former is 200 ft. long, with platforms ranged one above the other, so that a number of artists can work at the same time.

About thirty artists can be accommodated at once.

The studio cage is arranged directly under a big skylight, and when a lion is wanted by the artists the animal is driven into a shifting cage and lowered to a study cage. Then it is an easy matter for the artist to make a study of the animal from the shifting cage. The animal is fed from the shifting cage. With the animal inside the cage the perfect light and scenery are disturbed them, the artists are free to begin work.

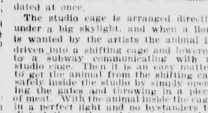

True Stories of Dogs

I f you could travel through Germany and Austria and visit the small army, you would be surprised to find there some very interesting ancient customs still carefully observed.

One of these customs is to have a big regimental drum drawn by a powerful dog. It rests on a two-wheeled cart, which the drummer marches and beats the drum with far greater ease than if he were also carrying its full weight from his shoulders.

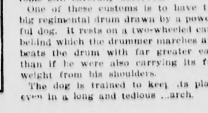

The dog is trained to keep its paws even in a long and tedious march.

Doll Pageantry

PHOTOGRAPHS OF THE TABLEAU

DOLLS are readily converted into the heroes which are their by right. For many years now, doll-makers have pretended to despise dolls; but the little girls and the very little boys who are by far the wisest, have stoutly championed the cause of the doll-house. And now the grown-up folk have at last given in, so that they have come to play an important part in a London tableau, by which the entire history of England was portrayed.

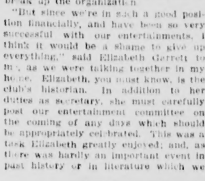

In the Pageant of Dolls, recently presented at the Taffan street, Westminster, groups of dolls were converted to illustrate historical scenes, well-known pictures, and even incidents from fairy stories and legends. For instance, the first photograph shows above represents Shakespeare reading his sonnets to Queen Elizabeth and her court. In the second the dolls are made and dressed to look like Henry VIII and his children. The dollhouse is climbing after him in the third tableau. The fifth shows Sir Walter Raleigh as a boy, listening to the tales of Ven the sailor. And in the last you see the noble Essex being discovered in the ballroom by Elizabeth's mother.

And must the subjects of this king or queen do whatever he tells them? I asked.

"Yes," replied Elizabeth. And then she added in great excitement: "Do you know, Helen, I've a splendid idea!"

Of course, I was anxious to know what the brilliant girl was. She was quick to share the secret. Before we separated, it was agreed that I should see that the entertainment was held in my house, and that I should arrange to have Elizabeth discover the bean in her slice of cake.

"I feel like a criminal," murmured Elizabeth to me when we met at the night of the party. We laughed together, as I assured her that it was sure we'd never be found out, and that my conscience wouldn't bother me.

From that day forward it was the fact that Elizabeth was better than for SHOULD happen to mother she must do her very best to take care of the little ones of the family. Her father, you know, had died over a year ago, and with the war had come hard times to the little farmhouse at Belton, in Aisance-lorraine.

"There was a sudden knocking at the door."

"Who is there?" asked the girl, her voice trembling.

"Vient ça!" called some one weakly.

Gertrude cautiously unbarred the door. It tutored a lad, who could not have been more than 12. His uniform was mud-splattered and drenched with blood, which flowed from a wound in his leg.

"Hide me, please!" he cried. "The Prussians found me concealed in a barn nearby and they tried to take me. I

Furthermore, he was the young son of the count who owned their farm, and to whose agent the family paid rent. The boy went on to tell her that he and his father had not forgotten the day when she, Gertrude, had come to her mother and begged her to let her stay.

"My mother," she cried, "just because I went into a tiny bit of danger, we can't have her here now!"

You may know that the mother was more than twice the age of the little boy, and had gained a home to rough her

YOU don't often hear of big lions being given fast rides in an auto through the streets of a great city. But this did actually happen some time ago. The funny part of it is that least it will seem strange to you, when you first hear it) that Mr. Lion did not enjoy his ride a very great deal. This, however, was because he was being taken as fast as possible to a hospital, where an operation had to be performed quickly. You see, Mr. Lion had been murdered. He had fought with another lion and the claw of his enemy had penetrated an eyeball. Colonel Mundy, the owner of the lion, was told that the beast must go to the hospital for treatment at once, or it would become entirely blind. Then a quick auto run, with Mr. Lion as passenger, was made from Lion Park to the Twenty-third Street Veterinary Hospital, New York city.

Sunday School Lesson

CONDUCTED BY REV. T. B. JONES

March 21st, 1909.

Correspondence is invited upon any lesson, or points of difficulty. Address to Sunday School, Pioneer Office, Didsbury.

Each teacher has this week the opportunity of pressing home the main truths and lessons studied through the quarter. We take this opportunity of giving a short report of the Sunday School Convention held recently at Lacombe.

An outbreak could not help noticing the progressive spirit of the members of the convention. The need of up-to-date work in the Sabbath school was urged, and the graded lesson system was advocated. The Sunday School is the church doing its most important work, hence the best wisdom, work and inspiration ought to be devoted to it by the church. It was generally recognised that each child is related to God, but it was felt that the truth was not as widely acted upon as it ought to be. Teachers and parents need to learn the lesson that a child need not enter into multiplied sin, or can experience the love of a saviour. Some even day that a child can be kept from ever falling away from Jesus. Few elderly persons in recalling life's history are able to declare that they do not recollect an hour when they did not love and serve Christ. This ought not to be so. There ought to be more whom no one caused to stumble, who were received and taught in the name of the Master. What then is the work of the Sunday school? The children are related to God, what more can we wish? The Convention makes reply, "that the work of the Sunday school is, (first) to bring the children to a consciousness of their relation to Christ," to a definite decision for Christ, and (second) "to develop character after the likeness of the Masters," to help children to express themselves in loving service for God and man. Train the children in the very best character. To do this you will need to study each child, think of it as a life waiting to receive impressions, a life calling you to untiring and continuous service. The question was asked, "Whose duty it was to bring a child to a definite decision to stand by Christ?" This splendid answer was given: "That there ought to be a loving conspiracy between parent, teacher and pastor, to lead the children to Christ." Think of men and women plotting and combining to lead a soul. Then the importance of Sunday school work was considered, and one reminded us that work on material perishes, work on brass is effaced, but that work on the child mind is lasting.

Should any reader be a discouraged worker let that one consider the following way, in the following of which success is guaranteed. First, each teacher must get near to Christ. The children love consistency and are quick to discriminate between the good and bad. Second—Let each teacher get near to his pupils. Study them carefully so that you will understand their dispositions. Third—be prayerful.

In conclusion let me urge each reader to ponder well what Sabbath school work is for. To what end is this effort. Remember that you have now a boundless opportunity of making your life count, of impressing your own character upon a world. Make your selves worthy of your high calling.

Ghost Pine

An Alphabetical Social was held by the E. L. C. E. on the evening of March 5th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Price on the old Curtis homestead. More than 65 were present. The time was spent most pleasantly and passed all too soon. The evening's entertainment commenced with an old fashioned spelling match. The games were more interesting than usual. Among the recitations given was a selection by Mr. Warwick which was heartily applauded. In response to request he also gave the Irish Philosopher. Mr. W. Dawn told the trials of an oxdriver in rhyme. Other recitations were given by Little Miss Price, McCubbin Bros., and E. Reed. Among the musical numbers were violin solos, Messrs. Milan and Adwell; soprano trios, Misses Young and Burroughs; solos, Messrs. McIntosh and Ferrey, choruses by the "We are 1's" glee club. Messrs. Curtis and Davis of Didsbury were present and furnished several delightful numbers on the gramophone. Bountiful refreshments were served at midnight, which are always a treat to the bachelors. After supper the young people joined in singing old songs and after the usual closing hymn reluctantly parted, agreeing that two halves are better than one.

Arthur Dawn of Three Hills attended the social on Ghost Pine on the 5th.

The residents of the country beyond the Red Deer are rushing their hauling before the ice goes out of the river.

F. Downs is living on his homestead now, also R. Cook. The smile remains.

George Randall is selling out. We regret to lose so good a neighbor.

Mr. Fisher is still visiting with Mr. Cunningham.

Mr. Jonathan Dawn of Three Hills is building on his homestead east of the creek.

The school is being successfully carried on by the new master, Mr. C. G. Bible.

Mr. Praxell is moving to his new home on his place.

Order for Opening the Railway Crossing

The following is a copy of the order from the Railway Company for the opening of the Hespeler street crossing which was received by Mr. J. E. A. Macleod last week which we publish as we think it will be of interest to the public generally.

IS THE MATTER OF the application of the Municipality of Didsbury under Section 227 of the Railway Act for leave to construct and maintain a highway crossing across the tracks and right of way of the Calgary and Edmonton Railway Company within the Town of Didsbury. As a continuation of Hespeler Street, eastwardly.

Upon hearing this application, and what was alleged by the Council for the applicant as well as for the Railway Company—

IT IS ORDERED:—

1. That the Municipality of Didsbury be and it is hereby authorized to open up a street across the right of way and lands of the railway at the said Town of Didsbury in the line and of the width of Hespeler street in an easterly direction to the easterly boundary of the lands of the said Railway Company.

2. AND IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the expense in connection with the opening up of the said highway, of all necessary grading and planking be borne by the said municipality of Didsbury.

AND IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that all questions that may arise as to protection (if necessary) at the said crossing be reserved for further consideration.

AND IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the crossing of the lands of the said Railway Company at Waterloo Street shall not be effected by this order.

(Signed,) J. P. MAIRIE, Chief Commissioner, Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada.

Easily Mixed Kidney Recipe

What will appear very interesting to many here is the article taken from a New York daily paper, giving a simple prescription, which is said to be a positive remedy for backache or kidney derangement, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

A well-known druggist here at home upon the kidney structure, cleansing these most important organs and helping them to sift and filter from the blood the foul acids and waste matter which cause sickness and suffering. Those of our readers who suffer can make no mistake in giving it a trial.
